NMCRS: Sailors asked to help

also provided in more than 364 service cases to those in need. That help included food lockers, thrift shops, visiting nurses and referrals to other service organizations such as the American Red Cross.

Paul Belanger, the director of Hawaii's Navy Marine Corps Relief Society, wanted to be sure that Sailors are aware of what is available to them and that some of these things have nothing to do with money.

"Sailors can call us here at our office at 423-1314. We are always willing to provide help in any way that we can," said Belanger.

Belanger said that NMCRS is more than happy to assist with people who are interested in volunteering and/or donating. He stated that an important thing to keep in mind is that each time a Sailor makes a donation, they help themselves, their families and other service members.
